

About Bamboo

Bamboo is a newly formed insurance organization, initially focused on property products in the California market. Founded by insurance and technology professionals who wanted to build a better insurance company, we are shedding the burdens and frustrations of working with outdated systems and processes. We understand your agency's expectations and are prioritizing ease of use and customer service. We have walked in your shoes, and are confident about where we are headed because we have focused our entire careers on designing the future of insurance.

Bamboo was established on the principles of customer advocacy and transparency, underpinned by the latest in cloud-based technology, and backed by some of the largest carriers in the industry.

Our strategy is to work with select quality partners to build a dependable distribution channel as we expand our suite of products and geographic markets.

Our promise is to always listen, and to build a true partnership at both the corporate and agency levels, so that we are always focused on enhancing our processes, technology, and products to better serve our partners and policy holders.

Let us grow together.
